

WHAT IS THE WOTC?

The Work Opportunity Tax Credit (WOTC) is a Federal tax credit available to employers for hiring individuals who have faced significant barriers to employment.

WHY DOES THE WOTC EXIST?

WOTC is a social program in the form of a 26 year-long partnership of business and the federal government that provides an incentive to hire those with a history of barriers to full employment. This hiring incentive motivates employers to hire and retain employees with federal income tax credits.

- The Logic. Your hiring provides a "social good." This hiring incentive recognizes the good that you do, as an employer, when you hire certain individuals with historically high unemployment rates.
- The Reward. For every qualified employee you hire, your business secures up to $9,600 in hiring incentives which average $1,560 per qualified hire based on wages in the first year of work.
- The Legislation. The Consolidated Appropriation Act of 2021 authorized the extension of the Work Opportunity Tax Credit (WOTC) until December 31, 2025.

HOW MUCH IS THE WOTC THIS YEAR?

This hiring incentive motivates employers to hire and retain employees. For every eligible employee you hire, your business can qualify for up to $9,600 in federal income tax credits.

- Tax Credit Potential per New Hire:
 - $2,400: WOTC Core Target groups
 - $5,600: Unemployed Veterans
 - $9,600: Disabled Veterans
 - $9,000: Long-term Welfare
- Isn't this too good to be true? These generous incentives continue since they are valuable for both business and the government. In fact, the government benefits more than you do.
